

Julia Griffin

Director of Marketing and Communications

Julia joined PRS for Music in early 2010 to manage all events and sponsorships before being promoted to Director of Marketing and Communications in November 2010.

Reporting directly to the CEO, she sits on the senior leadership team and offers expert advice to the business with a focus on strategies to reach our members, licensees and political audiences. Leading a team of 20 she oversees all marketing and communications activities, including PR and corporate communications, production and design, digital marketing, research, events and sponsorship and internal communications.

Julia graduated from the University of Wisconsin with a degree in economics and international relations and has since spent 20 years in a variety of marketing and communication positions. She has a successful track record at a senior level and has worked for leading companies across a diverse range of industries in Europe and the US including AOL Time Warner, AirMiles, Liz Claiborne (Europe) and Sky Interactive.