

Karen Buse

Director of International and Societies

After graduating with a BA (Hons) degree in French and Spanish from Southampton University, Karen joined PRS's distribution team in 1991.

Karen has headed up the International department since 2003, responsible for all International activity from revenue generation, inter society relations, international standards, as well as projects and alliances with key International partners such as CISAC, BIEM, IMPA (International Publishers Association) and ICMP (International Confederation of Music Publishers).

Karen has overall responsibility for all inward and outward facing international activity, and in October 2011 became Director of International and Societies.
