

Limited Online Music Licence (LOML)

Who needs this licence?

Small digital services in the UK that offer on demand streaming, permanent downloads, podcasts and webcasting to a UK audience. We categorise services as small if their annual gross revenue is less than £12,500.

What this licence covers

LOML covers the communication to the public and associated mechanical rights (excluding synchronisation) of our members' repertoire through digital services.

How do I apply?

Visit prsformusic.com/loml to register your details and apply for a licence. You can pay with a credit or debit card.

What are the licence fees?

Fees are based on how much music a service uses. Prices start from £188 + VAT for a 12 month licence.

Reporting requirements

You need to tell us how much music you used at the end of each licence period. We can top up your licence if you underestimated your level of music usage at the start of the licence year.

LOML does not cover

- Sound recording rights – visit ppluk.com for more information
- Services operating outside the UK
- Synchronisation rights
- Use of music in adverts, sponsorship or corporate videos
- Adaptations of works

Visit prsformusic.com/loml to download the full Terms and Conditions.

Visit copyrighthub.org for general information about copyright.

Licences for larger services

The Limited Online Music Licence+ (LOML+) is for music services which exceed the gross revenue threshold or usage caps of LOML. Visit prsformusic.com/lomlplus for more information

To find out which licence is right for you, please use our handy tool.

Choose the right licence for your service

	Music download Services that allow users to download permanent copies of musical works.
	Music on demand Services that allow users to select individual musical works on demand.
	Interactive webcast Services that allow users to listen to a music based webcast. Users cannot select individual musical works to listen to but they can pause and fast forward the webcast.
	Webcast Services that allow users to listen to a music based webcast. Users cannot select individual musical works to listen to, pause or fast forward the webcast.
LOML can also cover karaoke services. Contact us at applications@prsformusic.com for more information.

What rights are covered by the licences?

The right to make digital copies of musical works.

The right to communicate music to the public, made available by way of streaming or downloading.

To buy your licence visit prsformusic.com/loml or contact us for more information
E: applications@prsformusic.com T: +44 (0)20 3741 3888

LOML 2024 Table of Fees

Please note:

A service providing two or more music service types require a licence covering each individual usage.

e.g. A service providing up to 2,200 downloads and 60,000 streams would be calculated as follows:

Music download – Band A = £188

Music on demand – Band B = £375

Total licence fee = £563+ VAT

To buy your licence visit prsformusic.com/loml

or contact us for more information

E: applications@prsformusic.com T: +44 (0)20 3741 3888

Annual licence fee per service type excluding VAT

LOML Licence band	A	B	C	D	E
2024 Annual licence fee (excl. VAT)	£188	£375	£936	£1,409	£1,872
Music Downloads max. number of downloads per annum	2,200	4,400	11,000	16,500	22,000
Music Download - Karaoke max. number of downloads per annum	1,450	2,900	7,250	10,875	14,500
Music On Demand max. number of streams per annum	45,000	90,000	225,000	340,000	450,000
Music On Demand - Karaoke max. number of streams per annum	30,000	60,000	150,000	225,000	300,000
Webcasting max. number of streams per annum	180,000	360,000	900,000	1,350,000	1,800,000
Interactive Webcasting max. number of streams per annum	115,000	230,000	575,000	865,000	1,150,000
Music Podcasting max. number of downloads per annum	68,000	136,000	340,000	510,000	680,000

As part of our commitment to enhancing your experience, the Limited Online Music Licence (LOML) will soon be decommissioned. In its place, we are introducing sector-specific Digital Music Licences designed to benefit customers' licensing needs.

To find out which licence is right for you, please use our handy tool.